

ABSTRACT

A device, system and method for providing indication of a disconnect when one of a plurality of cellular telephones involved in a conversation has disconnected.